Dear Rafael Ortiz,

Our Client's records show that your previous Bank of America account was left with an outstanding balance that is currently in the amount of $937.60.

In order to prevent further collection activity on this account, you must remit payment immediately or call our offices today to negotiate a settlement amount to resolve your past due account. You may not have intentionally neglected this obligation, and we understand how this may have been overlooked, but it does require your prompt attention. Continued disregard of this matter is not advised.

Due the contractual obligation you signed with the financial institution you were obligated to leave any closed bank accounts at a zero balance, in order to not be a candidate for ChexSystems. A Chex Systems submission can impact your ability to open any new bank accounts or Debit cards.

If you have any questions, or would like additional information regarding your delinquent account, please contact our office immediately at: (302) 202-3042.
