Dear JJ,

Trustpilot is an online review platform that allows people to openly share feedback about their experience with companies.

Online reviews provide real value when they're informative and truly reflect a company's service. It's crucial that our community can trust the reviews on Trustpilot.

It has come to our attention that you have contacted https://www.trustpilot.com/review/di\_patcher101.com in an abusive way and have threatened or blackmailed them. Such behaviour is a violation of our Guidelines for Reviewers and is inconsistent with Trustpilot's fundamental principle of trust, transparency and integrity.

Therefore, we request that you immediately stop threatening the company. If we continue to see abusive behaviour, we may block your account.

We appreciate your cooperation in this matter.

Kind regards,

Radoslav K,

I did not make threats to the company. They made threats to me and I sent you the documentation. I am done with trying to communicate with you. Stop defending this company.
